

The CDRC Vienna

The IBA-VIAC Mediation and Negotiation Consensual Dispute Resolution Competition is more than just any other moot court. This event brings together negotiation and mediation enthusiasts from different countries and walks of life to engage with one another and be enriched. Every year, 250 internationals from all over the world gather in Vienna to participate. The teams are selected based on the individual applicants, not merely the universities. At the event, they are grouped in sessions and assessed and supported by expert judges. The pool of approximately 50 international judges ranges from experts in fields ranging from mediation to negotiation, business to law, from academia to practice, providing holistic feedback for the participants.

The comparatively small number of selected participants allows the competition not only to maintain a high quality but also established a sense of community, allowing intercultural and intellectual exchange within the participants. Competing students, experts, organisers - at CDRC everyone is the same. Everyone can all learn from the other, each in their respective ways.

Have they sparked your interest? Check them out on their website: www.cdrcvienna.org
Are you interested in sponsorship? Feel free to message them at office@cdrcvienna.org – they will get in touch with you as soon as possible.